Louisiana Purchase Council

The Louisiana Purchase Council, Boy Scouts of America serves over 3,700 young people through Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting, Venturing, and Learning for Life.

The Boy Scouts of America offers educational programs that teach leadership skills, survival skills, ethical values, character, caring skills, citizenship, and responsibility. Scouting builds real self-esteem and self-respect while giving young men and young women opportunities to explore new horizons, achieve recognition, and participate in physical and mental fitness programs.

In the long term, youth who participate in Scouting make better grades in school and have a higher graduation rate both in high school and college. On average adults who had Scouting experience as youth have higher household incomes thus having a greater positive economic impact on their communities.
